For OOP notes and study material you can visit my website CodeTechMentor, which I created to share my passion and knowledge with all of you related to coding, computer science, and data science.